

SAVE CENTRAL PARK NYC

We are a grassroots, community-based, all-volunteer organization concerned with the negative impacts of mega towers clustered around Central Park, the most important public amenity in New York City. Our members care about protecting and preserving the air, light and open space of this scenic and historic landmark. Supertall buildings already completed or under construction will cast long shadows in the Park, blocking sunlight from playgrounds, open fields, pathways and vegetation. We believe that zoning laws must be updated so that buildings are massed in a way that protects the Park from being covered further in shadows.

VOTERS AGAINST SUPERTALLS

SAVE OUR NEIGHBORHOODS AND PARKS!!

TAKE ACTION NOW!

New Yorkers must demand that our public officials protect Central Park and our residential neighborhoods from the proliferation of shadows cast by new development.

- Call or write your elected city officials, including your City Council Representative and the Manhattan Borough President, and demand that they create legislation which would protect the City's greatest public asset. You may find information on how to contact your elected at: <http://www.savecentralparknyc.com/action.html>
- Demand a moratorium on mega-development around Central Park until there are guarantees that the project will keep in scale with the neighborhood, an environmental impact study has been completed, and the public has had adequate information in time to review and react to the proposed development.
- Attend your Community Board's Land Use Meetings (open to the public and held monthly) to have your voice heard.
- Energize your neighbors, friends, building Boards and tenants' associations. Stop the unplanned expansion of mega towers. Visit our website at www.savecentralparknyc.com or contact us at SaveCentralParknyc@gmail.com
